A sleek and easy-to-use interface that allows users to navigate the application effectively. The design and layout of Transport Rentals is very modern, it features clear tabs and icons that make it easy to create and manage the database. Creating new transport profiles is simple and the context menus are finely honed. If you can't find the right icon, you can still access what you want with a well placed right click. The application offers a good variety of different features that make running a business easier, with the transport profiles and schedule calendar both containing useful options. Each one presents enough customizable areas for you to be able to rent out either cars or boats, without having to struggle to adapt the application to their specific business. A great business database, but might lack some depth in certain areas The application functions primarily as an advanced scheduler and a list of rentable assets. It can't perform much more than just storing your information and is clearly meant to be used in conjunction with other more advanced finance tools. One drawback is that it doesn't include any tabs for business assets other than rentable transport. A tab or area to list in detail your storage facilities, any employees you might have or additional expenses would make it a more comprehensive business tool. Despite the lack of detail in some areas, the application works very well at what it primarily offers: a way to manage your vehicles and customers. The lack of encryption is not an issue as the application does not encourage overly sensitive information to be stored in it. It also contains several synchronization methods to link it with other third parties or external devices, so it can upload information from them.
